DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action acknowledges the applicant's amendment filed 10 March 2010. Claims 1, 4, and 20 are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
4. Claims 1 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mumford (4,093,103) in view of Hermelin et al. (US Patent 6,375,956).

With respect to claim 1, figures 1-3 of Mumford discloses a package 10 comprising a chamber (interior of package outside second chamber 53) formed therein, the package having a second chamber 53 formed therein, and the second chamber being separate from the chamber and disposed within the chamber. Mumford discloses the claimed invention except for the package is a suppository package, the chamber containing a suppository, and the second chamber containing a lubricant. Figure 8A of Hermelin discloses a package comprising multiple chambers (114, 116, 124, and 126), wherein the chambers contain either a lubricant (cream) or a suppository (column 15, lines 59-67; and column 16, lines 1-7). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the package of Mumford by placing a suppository in the chamber and a lubricant (cream) in the second chamber in order to create a package which provides optimal therapeutic support (column 6, lines 9-14).

With respect to claim 20, Mumford discloses the chamber and the second chamber are constructed for being opened simultaneously. Opening the package a certain way would enable the chambers to be opened simultaneously.

5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mumford (4,093,103) in view of Hermelin et al. (US Patent 6,375,956) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Davidowitz (US Patent 3,712,300).

With respect to claim 4, Mumford in view of Hermelin discloses the claimed invention except for the lubricant is a greasy ointment or petroleum jelly. Davidowitz disclose that VASELINE, which is petroleum jelly, is used as a lubricant (column 5, lines 67 and 68). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use VASELINE as a lubricant in order to reduce friction when the suppository is used, as taught by Davidowitz (column 5, lines 67 and 68).

Response to Arguments

6. Although claim 1 was amended, the limitations of the newly amended claim 1 were not considered in combination in the previous office action. Consequently, the search has been updated, new prior art was applied, and applicant's arguments with respect to the rest of the arguments have been considered but are therefore moot.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
